President Calls "War Council" Late Today

County Goal For Red Cross Drive $14,100

Initial preparations for launching of a new Red Cross campaign were made today when J. E. Willis was named chairman of the war relief drive which will get under way immediately.

Ralph E. Francis was named co-chairman and the goal for Kankakee county was announced as $14,000. This is part of a nation-wide Red Cross drive to raise a $50,000,000 war relief fund immediately for assisting Americans in the war zones.

Secretary Max Jaffe reported that already two contributions of $100 each had been received in this new campaign. Until the organization recruits workers and perfects other details of the new drive, contributions will be received by mail temporarily at Post Office Box No. 166, Kankakee.

Donald Gray, chapter chairman, indicated that since the need for funds is urgent, the committee hopes to obtain workers within a few days.

Dramatic Arrival Of Churchill Causes A Stir

Confers With President
On A Unified "Victory Program"

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt called a conference for 4 p. m. (est) today with American army and navy officials and British Prime Minister Churchill and his staff. The White House said this group might be called the "war council."

The American group invited included Secretary of War Stimson, General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, Major General Henry H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff for air, Secretary of the Navy Knox, Admiral Harold L. Stark, chief of naval operations, Admiral Ernest J. King, navy commander of the United States fleet, and Harry L. Hopkins, special assistant on lend-lease affairs.

British Representatives
With Britain's prime minister, who arrived here last night, were to be Lord Beaverbrook, supply minister, Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, commander of the British fleet, Air Marshal Sir Charles F. A. Portal, and General Sir John Dill, former chief of the imperial general staff and now governor of Bombay.

In announcing the conference, Press Secretary Stephen Early told reporters: "That group you might call the war council."

This was to be the first conference between the President and the entire British mission.

The high-ranking officers were among 83 Britishers who accompanied Churchill on his secret trip across the Atlantic.

Early said the army and navy and British groups were to compose the British-American war council. This leaves the door open for additions to the group when Russia, China, the Netherlands and others are brought within the scope of the unified inter-allied war command.

Meets Dominion Ministers
Sir Gerald Campbell, director general of the British information service in the United States, announced after a meeting with the prime minister that Churchill would meet today with all the British dominion ministers to the United States.

A brief talk with Churchill, Sir Gerald added, conveyed to him the impression that the White House conferences would strike this single purpose: "World wide strategy and world wide supply leading to world wide victory."

Diplomatic phases of the war effort also might be discussed, said Sir Gerald, and as other allies enter the discussions, other phases, perhaps including post-war considerations, might also be considered.

"Work" Only Reply
Sir Gerald said that to almost every question he asked the prime minister, there was shot back this one-word reply: "Work!"

Driver Says He Walked Back To Car He Struck

Clifford Sweeney, 37, of 1235 South East avenue, arrested Sunday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, had his hearing in police court last evening. Testimony indicated that he sideswiped the parked car of Fred Flowers, 1620 East Maple street, but proceeded a block or so before stopping. He said he pulled to the side as soon as there was room, then walked back to look at parked cars. Saw no damage, so drove on. Flowers said damage to his car amounted to $45, but he did not wish to prosecute on the above charge. Magistrate Edward Hoenness assessed a fine of $8.25 for careless driving.

Harold Christian, 18, of 1128 South Fifth avenue, who was arrested Saturday night and fined $8.25 for disorderly conduct, was back before the judge today for drunkenness. His arrest last night was by Officers Wallace Flannery and Curtis Fredd. He was fined $4.50.

Fred Gathling, colored, 683 North Hobble avenue, was fined $8.25 yesterday after admitting that he tore the coat of Sentelle Truly, colored girl. He denied that he took her purse, however.

Tanker Fired On Six Miles Off The West Coast

BULLETIN
San Francisco, Dec. 23—(AP)—The 440-foot tanker, Montebello was attacked and sunk by an enemy submarine at 4 a. m. today off the California coast, headquarters of the 12th navy district announced. Four lifeboats carrying survivors have landed.

San Francisco, Dec. 23—(AP)—The navy confirmed today that an enemy ship fired on the tanker Larry Doherty six miles off Estero bay. There has since been no communication with the tanker.

The Larry Doherty, owned by Richardson, was of 4,348 net tons. There were reports from residents of Estero bay, that lifeboats bearing survivors were being landed on the coast.

Sounds of gunfire and of a shattering explosion were heard at Estero bay and at Morro bay, on the coast off San Luis Obispo, before dawn. Flashes from the guns could be seen on shore.

Estero bay is about midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The gunfire appeared to be about six miles at sea, north of the bay. Shooting started at 3:10 a. m., and continued intermittently until about 6 o'clock. The mighty explosion which rattled windows and doors of houses, was felt around 4 a. m.

It was the seventh enemy attack in nearby Pacific waters since the opening of the war. Yesterday 30 survivors of the torpedoed tanker were rescued at Eureka. The raiding submarine may have been damaged, Captain Clark A. Farrow of the Emido said.

San Luis Obispo, Calif., Dec. 23—(AP)—A series of heavy explosions were heard off-shore on the Pacific coast today.

The blasts were heard distinctly at Morro bay and at Estero bay. In San Francisco navy and army spokesmen said they had received reports of the explosions, but had no information as to their nature.

The keeper of the Point Buchon lighthouse said the sound of gunfire at sea started shortly after 3 a. m. about 4 o'clock, he said, he saw two flashes which were followed by a heavy explosion that shook houses at Estero.

The gunfire continued until about 6 a. m.

Hitler Embarks On Desperate Gamble

Believed In Attempt To Make Up For Losses
On Russian Frontier

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sharp new reverses jarred Adolf Hitler's invasion armies on two fronts today—in Russia and North Africa—as the world speculated on the possibility of a sudden berserk thrust by the Fuehrer in an attempt to retrieve his tattered military fortunes.

European observers predicted that Hitler, in his new role as supreme war lord of the German armies, would soon try to open a new front in regions less hostile to Blitzkrieg campaigning than winter-frozen Russia.

Turkey and the middle east, Spain, Gibraltar, French Africa and the British Isles appeared the likeliest targets of attack.

A Soviet broadcast said that German-dominated Bulgaria was speeding war preparations along the Turkish frontier and that announcement of Bulgarian mobilization was expected shortly.

The broadcast said the Bulgarian port of Varna and the Rumanian port of Constanta on the Black sea were "eagerly ready to serve as bases for some new German thrusts."

Massing In Bulgaria
Powerful German forces have repeatedly been reported massing in Bulgaria in recent months.

Berlin and Rome both hinted that important military developments were imminent, with Nazi and Fascist commentators using the word "decisive," while Stockholm observers predicted that axis operations would be moved "from east to west."

On the North African front, Cairo headquarters said British Mobile troops had reached the coastal plain of the Gulf of Sirte, south of Bengasi, in what appeared to be a maneuver to cut off the main axis armies fleeing southward from Derna and westward from Mekeil toward Bengasi.

The remnants of the axis armies probably will attempt a final stand in the region of Bengasi because German general Erwin Rommel "cannot help it," said an authoritative military commentator in London.

British reinforcements were reported steadily increasing the pressure on Bengasi itself.

The whole line of axis retreat west of Mekeil, as pictured by British middle east headquarters, was "littered with abandoned material."

Firemen Called To Get Squirrel Out Of Chimney

Firemen diverted from their usual routine yesterday when they were called upon to get a squirrel out of a chimney in the residence of Louis E. Beckman Sr., 1285 Cobb boulevard.

The animal had crawled down the fireplace flue and got itself stuck, much to its discomfort as well as the occupants of the house. After sizing up the situation, firemen concluded that a little buckshot would help. They crawled in through the hearth, fired the shot and down came the soot-covered squirrel. It scampered across the living room but was quickly bagged and put out of its misery.

At 6 o'clock last evening, firemen made a run to the Lawrence Lowe farm at Aroma Park, where a straw stack caught fire. Firemen played water on the barn to prevent the blaze from spreading.

At 9:08 p. m., the department answered an alarm at the restaurant of Mrs. Rose Clark, 125 North Dearborn avenue, where defective electric wiring on the roof of the establishment set the roof on fire and burned a hole in it. Damage was estimated at $10.

New Commander Of Soviet Forces In The Far East

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—A London authority said today Marshal Klement Voroshilov, who organized the all-out defense of Leningrad last August as commander of the northern Russian front, had been appointed commander of Soviet forces in the far east.

The appointment does not necessarily mean that the Russians are contemplating action against Japan, the source said, though he acknowledged that such action is a possibility.

Information received here, he added, was to the effect that the Russians "wanted the front well-protected."

Marshal Klement Y. Voroshilov, who will be 61 February 5, is the former commander in chief of the Soviet army, navy and air forces who is probably responsible more than any man in Russia except Premier Joseph Stalin himself for the mighty organization of the present Red army.

Japs Continue Landing Men In Lingayen Area

American And Filipino
Troops Check Efforts
To Advance Southward

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—A Japanese force has landed on Wake island.

In making this announcement today the navy said that enemy units of unspecified strength landed this morning on the tiny mid-Pacific island where marines have beaten off repeated onslaughts by enemy aircraft and naval units.

The small garrison underwent a strong air attack yesterday morning. The communiqué stated, in which several enemy planes were shot down.

This attack was the 13th Japanese attack on Wake since the start of hostilities, and like the others apparently was beaten off by the marine garrison assisted by laborers on the island, but there was no announcement as to whether the detachment of devil dogs was still resisting the landing force which set foot on the American possession today.

Lingayen Area
The army said earlier in a communiqué that Japanese were continuing to pour in troops on the Lingayen gulf coast north of Manila in the Philippines.

Fighting was continuing with "increasing intensity," it said.

Also the navy confirmed that two more unsuccessful attacks were made by enemy submarines on United States merchant vessels off the Pacific coast, bringing the total of such submarine attacks to six.

The communiqué declared that Japanese claims to seizure of a large number of American merchant ships were "without foundation."

The only American vessel known to have been seized by the Japanese, the navy said, was the liner President Harrison.

Navy Communiqué
The navy communiqué, based on reports received up to 8 a. m., est. today, follows:

"Atlantic theater—There are no new developments to report."

"Eastern Pacific—Two U. S. merchant ships were attacked by enemy submarines off the Pacific coast. Both attacks were unsuccessful."

"Central Pacific—Wake island sustained another strong air attack in the forenoon of the 22nd. Several enemy planes were shot down. An enemy force effected a landing on Wake the morning of the 23rd."

U. S.-Canadian Resources To Be Combined

Will Remove Any Barriers Standing In Way Of War Production Efforts

By MERRIAM SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Dec. 23.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today approved a plan for combining all the productive resources of Canada and the United States, and for removing any barriers standing in the way of an "all-out war production effort."

A declaration of policy unanimously adopted by the joint war production committees of the United States and Canada, which such a plan legislative and administrative barriers, including tariffs, import quotas, and other restrictions, "should be suspended or otherwise eliminated for the duration of the war."

The committees' policy statement, an agreement between the United States and Canada, was released by the White House.

"This declaration has met the approval of the Canadian war cabinet," said Roosevelt. "It has my full approval."

The plan apparently would combine not only the productive facilities but the raw materials of the two countries—even to the extent of breaking down tariff walls and other monetary restrictions.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had instructed the chairman of the American Joint War Production Committee, Milo Perkins, to investigate, with the aid of the tariff commission, the various legislative and administrative changes will be necessary to give full effect to the plan.

The plan was revealed as Mr. Perkins, who is chairman of the British Prime Minister Winston Churchill on a joint plan of action for the duration of the war, was in Kankakee, Ill., on his way to the White House today or tomorrow.

The plan, which is a declaration of policy for Canada and the United States approved by the committee, states that the following statement of policy for the war production of the two countries:

"1. Victory will require the maximum war production in both countries in the shortest possible time, and the volume of war output, rather than monetary cost, are the primary objectives."

"2. An all-out war production effort in both countries requires the maximum use of the labor, raw materials and facilities in each country."

"3. Achievement of maximum volume and speed of war output requires that the production and resources of both countries should be effectively integrated, and directed toward a common program of requirements for the total war effort."

"4. Each country should produce those articles in an integrated program of requirements which will result in maximum joint output of war goods in minimum time."

"5. Scarce raw materials and goods, which one country requires from the other in order to carry out the joint program of war production should be allocated between the two countries that such materials and goods will make the maximum contribution toward the output of the most necessary articles in the shortest period of time."

"6. Legislative and administrative barriers, including tariffs, import duties, quotas, and other restrictions for the duration of the war, should be suspended or otherwise eliminated for the duration of the war."

"7. The two governments should take all measures necessary for the fullest implementation of the foregoing principles."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had requested all affected departments and agencies of this government to abide by the "letter and spirit" of the declaration of policy "so far as lies within their power." He called upon the people of this continent to demonstrate that they can match through the Democratic processes the all-out efforts of the totalitarian nations.

"1. Victory will require the maximum war production in both countries in the shortest possible time, and the volume of war output, rather than monetary cost, are the primary objectives."

"2. An all-out war production effort in both countries requires the maximum use of the labor, raw materials and facilities in each country."

"3. Achievement of maximum volume and speed of war output requires that the production and resources of both countries should be effectively integrated, and directed toward a common program of requirements for the total war effort."

"4. Each country should produce those articles in an integrated program of requirements which will result in maximum joint output of war goods in minimum time."

"5. Scarce raw materials and goods, which one country requires from the other in order to carry out the joint program of war production should be allocated between the two countries that such materials and goods will make the maximum contribution toward the output of the most necessary articles in the shortest period of time."

"6. Legislative and administrative barriers, including tariffs, import duties, quotas, and other restrictions for the duration of the war, should be suspended or otherwise eliminated for the duration of the war."

"7. The two governments should take all measures necessary for the fullest implementation of the foregoing principles."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had requested all affected departments and agencies of this government to abide by the "letter and spirit" of the declaration of policy "so far as lies within their power." He called upon the people of this continent to demonstrate that they can match through the Democratic processes the all-out efforts of the totalitarian nations.

Married Couples Join Our 1942 Christmas Club

Young married couples often find budgeting rather difficult. However, we believe that, through careful management, almost every couple can afford to set aside a small sum for a Christmas Club. It means so much to both the husband and wife to be able to do all their Christmas shopping without worrying about "the expenses." If you've recently been married, why don't both of you join our new 1942 Club, now in operation.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had instructed the chairman of the American Joint War Production Committee, Milo Perkins, to investigate, with the aid of the tariff commission, the various legislative and administrative changes will be necessary to give full effect to the plan.

The plan was revealed as Mr. Perkins, who is chairman of the British Prime Minister Winston Churchill on a joint plan of action for the duration of the war, was in Kankakee, Ill., on his way to the White House today or tomorrow.

The plan, which is a declaration of policy for Canada and the United States approved by the committee, states that the following statement of policy for the war production of the two countries:

"1. Victory will require the maximum war production in both countries in the shortest possible time, and the volume of war output, rather than monetary cost, are the primary objectives."

"2. An all-out war production effort in both countries requires the maximum use of the labor, raw materials and facilities in each country."

Snowed under this Christmas? Yes...in spite of all we can do!

LAST Christmas Eve and Christmas Day so many people telephoned their greetings to friends and relatives that Long Distance calls to many points were SIX times normal.

THIS year above all, you say, you want the presents you give to be used—you want them to last... Well, here's the answer... Give electrical gifts. Their worth will increase as months go by.

Now meet an old hand at Christmas giving... he will show you how to shop for long-lived electrical gifts... Santa Claus!

For people who take pride in serving snacks to their guests, a toaster with tray and service dishes is perfect... or you can give a complete electric roaster for this amount of money.

Neighbor's Child Often A Problem

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Often, in this column I have praised the mother who through tact, patience and self-sacrifice tames the undisciplined child who lives near. She does the child more good than she knows. She also renders an unselfish service to the whole community. Besides, his and her children reap, in the long run, the largest benefits, perhaps.

If the badly brought-up child is going to remain where he lives and mingle with your children, it is much better that he should learn to be a desirable playmate, or even tolerable, than to be a pest to you and a bully to your children.

Then there is the neighbor child who, though he conduct himself fairly well in your home, is there nearly all the time. His presence often is a burden to you.

Visiting Child Problem

"Dear Dr. Myers: I work in a family where there are two children, ages five and seven. They have a playmate, age seven, who never seems to know when to go home. The children are fond of him and when I tell him to go home, they urge him to stay. He often stays during our mealtime (which keeps the children from eating as they should); although we tell him out-right to go home, he pays little attention. Sometimes when we have guests he stays right with us every minute. Would you tell me how, tactfully, to get rid of him when necessary without offending him or his parents. Please find an enclosed stamped self-addressed envelope."

I advised this young woman that the mother of the children she cares for might properly see the playmate's parents and write out with them a program indicating when this child should be sent home. It is too much to expect the child to take this responsibility. Such procedure requires, of course, considerable tact but is practical.

Solve Problem Early

The longer such problems continue the harder they are to solve. The keen parent senses them early and works out an understanding with the neighbor about the time when the playmate will be welcome and when no playmates are desired in her home.

In any home there are times when the family should be alone, especially just before and during meals and early in the afternoon.

Unfortunately, there are some selfish mothers who encourage their young children to go to a neighbor's house to get rid of these children; and the more unselfish this neighbor is the more selfish the imposing parent will become. Mothers need to learn early to look after their own welfare. On the other hand, every mother should constantly ask herself whether she is allowing her children to be a burden to another mother who is generous.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. When my daughter five years old teases and hits her baby brother

I make her kiss him, but it doesn't seem to do any good.

A. It won't. It will make her worse. Foolish to use as punishment what you want the child to like to do. Probably the basic problem is jealousy. Let me send you my special bulletin on jealousy. Just write me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Don't Overlook The Trifles Which Can Murder Sleep

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Winter is the time for good sleeping and it is just too bad if you neglect all the knowledge that modern psychology has accumulated in order to get your proper rest.

The clinician can insist as much as he likes that sleep is not a necessity, but it still remains a fact that a bad night's sleep will knock out our sense of well-being for at least twenty-four hours. We should learn how to deal with the little disturbances of sleep.

You may have a spell of bad nights not because you have a conscience as uneasy as Macbeth's or because you are neurotic, but simply because you overlook one of the trifles that murder sleep.

How Senses Go to Sleep

Our senses go to sleep in this order according to the psychologist: first we lose our sense of vision, then taste, then smell, hearing and touch. If this is true, and I think it is, we do not have to worry so much about the morning light as we do about the evening light. To wake us up just at the moment that the organism is passing over into delicious sleep.

Touch is benumbed last of all, so be sure that nothing about the bed clothes or night dress is going to intrude through the sensory path of touch. Night garments which leave the shoulders exposed to the chill air make sleep lighter, because temperature sensitivity remains through practically all sleep.

Temperature of Bedroom

Donald A. Laird of Colgate university, one of our most practical psychologists, says a bed can be too warm as well as too cold. Laboratory research suggests that the best bedroom temperature is between 59 and 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

The stomach does not sleep at all, it just rests slightly. Three or four times an hour it contracts spasmodically in what might be called a hunger pang. These pangs start as soon as the stomach is empty—four to five hours after a meal—about the time adults go to bed. This suggests that a bedtime lunch of foods which will not cause digestive distress is helpful in improving sleep the first half of the night by postponing the hunger contractions.

Alcohol helps sleep the first half of the night and ruins it the second half.

Self-Hypnosis

The worst enemy of sleep is residual excitement from the previous day and evening. We get too keyed up to relax. Walter Winchell once yearned to sleep as soundly at night as he did when it was time to get up. People who go to sleep well use what the psychologist calls self-hypnosis. Dr. Nathaniel Kleitman of the University of Chicago has found that the surest way to keep awake is to tense muscles.

Worry seldom keeps people awake. The Italian, Poggio, has a character who is asked, "How can you sleep with such pressing debts?" "The wonder is," he replied, "that my creditors can sleep."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. L.: "Will eating peanuts (not salted) in excessive amount do any harm? They help constipation. I can get along without, a laxative every night if I eat plenty of peanuts."

Answer: Peanuts are not constipating.

pletely digested and leave quite a residue in the intestines, but I never heard of using them for cathartic purposes before. They will do no harm.

Even Hairpins Are Affected By National Defense

Cleveland, Dec. 23—(INS)—National defense has gotten in the ladies' hair.

Once beauty shops stuck hairpins in customers' hair with a reckless abandon and permitted them to walk out with their locks fastened in place.

That, however, is no longer the situation in many Cleveland beauty parlors. At one establishment, a corps of workers were going around plucking pins from hair with a magnet and subjecting the floor to a minute serutinization for any stray hair pins. The pins were then sterilized and used again.

As one operator put it: "Our supply of hair pins has run dangerously low. We're encouraging our customers to bring their own. As I see it, the time may come when women will use toothpicks instead—and like it."

Made from Steel

He pointed out that hair pins are made from steel, and priority callings have wiped out any such use of the metal.

"Bobbie" pins, another vital requirement in women's hair apparel, are still plentiful, but their days are numbered.

Like the vanishing American, the hairpin, once the jack-of-all-trades and handy household implement, has gone the way of national defense.

Scientists Will Study California Mountain Peaks

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 23—(INS)—Is southern California's mountain range doomed, or may the coming generations be privileged to enjoy their towering peaks?

Scientists from the California forest and range experiment station are determined to answer this problem—even if it takes them 50 years.

The mountains now face the possibilities of being reduced to mere penneplain through soil erosion and waste of water and watershed.

Setting up a 17,000 acre outdoor laboratory, known as the San Dimas experimental forest near Glendale, the scientists are making complete studies of mountain plants and their water consumption, including the scrub oak, Chamise, Mountain Lilac and Sage, which are native.

"People are always asking us why we don't plant pine trees on the local mountain areas," explained E. L. Hamilton, silviculturist at the San Dimas forest. "So we are going to make an experiment with the Coulter pine to see if the idea is practical."

"From the sage we may get results in a year, but from the others it will take much longer. We should know something in five years, but will know a lot more in 10 years about the actual ability of these plants to thrive without water."

Methods of road drainage, erosion control, calculation of water flows and soil erosion rates, are included in the experimental program.

Of a post-war European, Dr. Smyth said:

"Where Hitler's doctrine afford a sure clue as to the record of Germany's situations and policies, this war will consolidate of government by terror gaudia. The secret police, the control of the press, will continue."

"Thousands of young will find profitable throughout conquered Germany. The German industrial system will continue to be a Nazi political control."

"Such a regime is ing. It lacks only Russia and Great Britain to secure."

Says Hitler Must Be Defeated On Field Of Battle

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 23—(INS)—Hitler can and will find a lasting empire over all Europe unless his armies are defeated on the field of battle by superior forces, according to Dr. Howard Smyth, assistant professor of history at the University of California.

Dr. Smyth said that the conquered peoples of Europe cannot overthrow the Nazis alone, and cited the example of Napoleon, pointing out that although French rule on the continent under French rule, the little Corleone's power remained unchallenged until his defeated in battle.
